

NOVA SCOTIA HAS ALL OF THE EXPERTISE ON LAND, AIR, AND SEA

Nova Scotia, Canada's history is rooted in the military, and it's part of the reason we can boast expertise in the defence, naval, and aerospace sectors. We're always pushing the boundaries to sail farther, fly faster, and turn big profits from our innovations.

There are 65 boat building yards around the province and 26 regional ports with working waterfronts offering year round ice free transportation infrastructure.

Top global defence companies at work.

Over 80 defence and aerospace firms operate in Nova Scotia, Canada, including 6 industry leaders.

Nova Scotia is home to over 40% of all of Canada's military assets

NOVA SCOTIA'S DEFENCE SECTOR GENERATES
$1.5 BILLION
A YEAR
IN REVENUES.

IRVING

Shipbuilding Inc. in Halifax was selected to build the combat vessel fleet as part of the National Shipbuilding Procurement Strategy. A contract estimated at over

$25 billion

Halifax, Nova Scotia, ranked #1 for lowest-operating costs in aircraft parts manufacturing across mature North American cities of over 100,000 people.

Halifax is the world's second largest natural harbour.

Canada's leading centre in sonar technology, torpedo defence, mine hunting, ship hydrodynamics and naval materials research is located in Nova Scotia.

Nova Scotia is fully loaded to help companies in defence and aerospace advance. Find out how we can help your company push boundaries at nsbi.ca/defencens

NOVA SCOTIA
CANADA

n | s | b | i
Nova Scotia Business Inc.